Christine has been involved with the Ottawa Inuit Community ever since she can remember. She remembers going to community Christmas parties, attending the stay in school program and during her high school years she worked at the Family Resource Centre. One summer she was the Inuktitut teacher for the Inuit community centre. She later graduated from Algonquin College in the field of Corrections and is now back where she began, working with the Inuit community and she couldn't be happier. She loves working with children and has her entire life.
